A Scholar Retires

THE SPONTANEOUS DEMONSTRATION accorded Dr. George Bain Jenkins at the luncheon in his honor last Saturday by a large body of faculty members and students of the Medical School attests to the high admiration and respect with which our recently elected Professor Emeritus in Anatomy is held. How well this point is emphasized when we realize that a large number of those participating had canceled their departure from Washington just to be in attendance.

And fittingly, too, for during the two decades that Dr. Jenkins has been a part of our Medical School it has become recognized as one of the country's top-notch medical institutions, and in no small way due to his influence.

Early in his career Dr. Jenkins became interested in medical education, and more than once he has professed that watching students of all sorts and types tackle the subject of anatomy has been his great stimulus. Thousands of students have passed through his classes—all must have been aware that theirs was the privilege of studying under a great teacher, scholar, scientist and philosopher. He gave unstintingly of his time and thought, constantly stressing that the few things life has to offer must be grasped by each person alone, and so directed his efforts toward impressing individual responsibility upon his students.

We must not feel that his retirement from the active staff to that of Professor Emeritus will deprive us of his beneficial influence. His voice will still be heard in the council chamber, and his years of research still to be continued will yet reach new pinnacles of accomplishment for Dr. Jenkins and thus for our University.

Looking Backward

IT IS A GOOD PRACTICE, at times, to take stock of one's progress, to examine the situation of today in the perspective of the past. And so, looking backward over the files of this year's Hatchet, we recall some of the main trends of the year, and pause as the year draws to a close today to take stock of the University's achievements in its 119th year.

Examining that first aspect of the progress of this University at the present time, namely the physical aspect, we note that one new building was completed just in time for the opening of this year, the new library building, the gift of Abram Lisner, and the way has been prepared for the construction of an auditorium, with funds provided by the same generous benefactor. The engineering building was enlarged and the campus considerably beautified.

The School of Pharmacy was accredited and the Law School announced the establishment of work leading to the S. J. D. degree, the highest law degree. Likewise, the University participated in the flight training program of the C. A. A.

The University mourned the death this year of Dean Lapham of the Engineering School, Comptroller Holmes, and Professor Emeritus Swisher, among others.

Academic life was much disturbed by the clouded atmosphere surrounding the resignation of Miss Martha Gibbon, popular English teacher, followed by the inauguration of a campaign of propaganda to undermine the faith of the University in its President, and by a number of expressions of satisfaction to counteract the vociferous expressions of dissatisfaction with the Administration's handling of personnel problems. At the end of the year, the matter seems far from settled, Miss Gibbon's unhappy fate having become a lost issue.

University extracurricular activities were marked by a noticeable increase of day students in key positions, on The Hatchet, in the Congress, in Cue and Curtin, as well as in many lesser organizations, and climaxing in the triumph of the Reform Party, in which all the new Student Council positions except one were filled (th day students).

The year 1939-40 was a difficult one for The Hatchet. A group of inexperienced new editors was shoved onto a provisional board, following the refusal of the Publications Committee to approve changes to the Board. At the beginning of the second semester, a new plan of organization was put into effect, placing control of paper in the hands of a group of editors, with no editor-in-chief, and setting up new hours requirements for various positions, favoring perhaps the full-time student. The paper has followed a less aggressive and consequently less obnoxious editorial policy than heretofore, and distinguished itself only moderately in intercollegiate competition.

The Cherry Tree was quiet. It may undergo a reorganization just as The Hatchet did. No Handbook will be published this year. Foremost innovation in the field of publications was the University Calendar.

Cue and Curtin had spectacular success this year. The calibre of the performances, from the one-act plays, through "Our Town" and the original plays written and directed by the members themselves, to "You Can't Take It With You," was excellent and the response gratifying.

The Student Congress, perennial problem, started off with high hopes, a new constitution and a new group of leaders, only to have interest wane and cleavages grow as the year wore on, so that by the end of the year, it was pretty well worn out. It will doubtless be reorganized again, however, and still hold forth the ideal of giving students training in expressing their views on current national and international questions, in public speaking and parliamentary procedure.

A somewhat disappointing innovation in the activity field this year was the Women's Student Government Association, which did little but sponsor a few noontime dances and the May Day program, not to mention collecting 50 cents from everybody it could. It, like many other organizations, is open to criticism on the fatal question, what do you do? Likewise, disappointing was the failure of class clubs.

Religious activity on the campus was steady this year, and chapel underwent a revival as a result of the genius of Prof. Raymond J. Seeger.

The Glee Clubs, too, worked quietly all year and showed their talent at the successful annual concert and dance in May.

Perhaps more than the usual number of public forums and debates were held this year, but little was done in the way of organizing and coordinating this phase of University activity.

Noteworthy in the social season was the Victory Ball, held jointly with Georgetown just before the football game, and the All-University Prom climaxing an active winter season of social events.

Honorary took in members as usual, but inaugurated no spectacular undertakings.

The Student Council underwent a revolution, when the Service Party was ousted by a coalition of independents and fraternity leaders in the Reform Party, resulting in the victory of a slate of full-time student officers. Whether there will be much "reform" remains to be seen.

And so the year passed. Progress? Yes, and no. A good deal of wholesome advance was made in some ways this year, but at the same time many phases of the University activities are far from what they should be. The task awaiting next year's leaders is a great one.

Hatchet Nominates Daugherty For Distinguished Service

Although The Hatchet does not sponsor any formal student awards, its policy is to bring to public attention exceptional activities of students. The following is a tribute to such a special service.

THROUGHOUT THE year's activity scene, characterized by the lack of many outstanding personalities, the work of the President present Editors feel that his contribution to the University has been matched or exceeded by very few throughout its history.

History Prof For Summer Is Author 3 Med Profs Are Awarded Emeritus Title

Dr. Mayo Replaces Professor Merriman During Summer

THE HISTORY department has lost one of its most popular professors for the summer sessions. Dr. Howard Maxwell Merriman, Assistant Professor of American Diplomatic History, left the city last week to return to his Alma Mater, the University of Cincinnati, where he will teach summer school courses in recent American History, and Diplomatic History of the United States.

Dr. Merriman's place will be taken over by Dr. Bernard Mayo, of the University of Virginia, and former student of the George Washington University. After receiving his A.B. in 1924 and M.A. in 1925 from the University, Dr. Mayo attended the Johns Hopkins University where he received his Ph.D. in 1931.

In addition to his membership in the American Historical Society, Phi Beta Kappa, and Kappa Sigma Fraternity, Dr. Mayo is prominent as an author of several historical works. For the American Historical Society, Dr. Mayo was the editor of "Instructions from the British Foreign Office to British Ministers, 1791-1812," published in 1936, and "Henry Clay, Spokesman of the West," 1937. The life of Henry Clay is a projected three volume work, of which the first volume has been published and the second is in preparation.

Dr. Mayo was Professor of American History at Georgetown University, 1937-1940; Lecturer at American University, 1928-29, 1936; Research Aide at the United States Chamber of Commerce, 1929-31. He was recently appointed to a history professorship at the University of Virginia, which will go into effect in September. At the University this summer, Dr. Mayo will teach a course in American History Since 1865 and share the Current History course with Dean Kayser.

No Handbook Next Year, Funds Lacking

THE COMMITTEE on Publications has voted not to authorize publication of the Handbook this year, Chairman Henry Gratton Doyle announced this week, because of the action of the Student Council in refusing to make the necessary appropriation.

As an alternative, the committee recommended that the first issue of The Hatchet in September contain a supplement prepared especially for freshmen and other new students, which would contain the material ordinarily printed in the Handbook.

The committee suggested that Fred R. Youngblood, Richard P. Ballard, Eugene Crowe, Mary Cruise, Foscue and James Mott, all nominees for the Handbook Editorial Board, be invited to cooperate with The Hatchet staff in preparing the material, with the details of this relationship to be worked out by the Board of Editors of The Hatchet.

Chapter Here Held Violating AAUP Policy

IN ITS MAY 21 issue, The Hatchet carried a resolution passed by the University Chapter of the American Association of University Professors which stated in part, "In view of certain recent unfortunate publicity concerning tenure and academic freedom at the George Washington University, the chapter wishes to go on record as stating that in the opinion of the chapter, the President has abided by both the letter and spirit of the Faculty code." The resolution was signed "B. D. Van Evers, president" and "L. Clark Keating, secretary."

It has been brought to The Hatchet's attention, and verified by AAUP Executive Secretary Ralph E. Himsel, that the action taken by the local chapter is in complete violation of the policy of the AAUP, if not one of the Association's by-laws. Himsel stated that local chapters are not expected to take action in this type of case and are in fact, advised not to do so.

Without any preliminary discussion, it is said, the resolution was brought before an unsuspecting assembly and "rushed through."

It is further claimed that Professor Van Evers as president-elect had no authority to sign such a statement. Dr. A. Curtis Wilgus, the present president, was not asked to sign the resolution.

Phi Beta Kappa Initiates Eight, Elects Officers

EIGHT undergraduates of the University who have met the requirements of Phi Beta Kappa were initiated into that organization Monday night as the Alpha of the District of Columbia Chapter met in Columbian House for the initiation and business meeting and in the Faculty Club for the banquet and annual address.

The new members are: Emily Allen, Sue Burnett, Carter Bowen, Ira Brown, Florence James, Betty Kossow, Doris Ludwig, and Nicholas Pronko.

This year's officers were re-elected: Dean Henry Gratton Doyle, President; Dean Robert Whitney Bolwell, Vice President; Prof. Florence Mears, Secretary; Miss Edith Mortensen, Treasurer; and Dr. Howard Merriman, Historian. Carter Bowen was elected student marshal.

Dean Henry Gratton Doyle presided.

June Parties Popular Time For Weddings

THE POPULARITY of June weddings seems unquestionable on campus according to the many of the former and present students who are making their plans for that month.

Mrs. Woolf a June Bride

One of the attractive June brides is Mrs. Louis B. Woolf. She and Dr. Woolf were married June 1 at 9:30 a.m. by the Rev. Norman N. Garrison, who officiated at his residence in the presence of a few relatives. Following the ceremony there was a wedding at the Shoreham Hotel. Mrs. Woolf, the former Miss Doris Friedman, wore a frock of white crepe, with a fitted and wide-brimmed white piqué and white accessories. Her hair was of white orchids. She is a graduate of the University of North Carolina and Georgetown University Medical School.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Cooley announce the engagement of their daughter, Rachel, to Lynn G. Wood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wood of Salt Lake City, Utah. Both Miss Cooley and Mr. Wood were graduates of the University. Mr. Wood also being a graduate of the University of Illinois.

The wedding will take place June 28. The wedding date of Anne Joyce David and Dr. Edward Comstock Wilson, Jr., was set for November by the father of the bride-elect, Miss David has been residing here the past four years with her uncle and aunt, Rear Admiral and Mrs. Ross T. McIntire, and has been attending the University during that time. She will be graduated June 12 and is secretary-treasurer of her class. Miss David is also president of her sorority, Pi Beta Phi.

Miss Williams' Engagement Announced. The Assistant Surgeon General of the United States and Mrs. Charles Laval Williams announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Lee Williams, to John Madison Lupton, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Lupton of Wilmington, Del.

Miss Williams is a graduate of the University and is a member of the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority. Mr. Lupton is a graduate of Oberlin College and is a member of Phi Beta Kappa. The wedding will take place in New Orleans in the late summer.

Another Graduate Betrothed. Another member of this year's graduating class, Miss Ruth White, is engaged to George Gushman, a graduate student here. Miss White, secretary of the Ward Sociological Society, is a member of Phi Sigma Sigma. Mr. Gushman, who is a candidate for a Master's degree in economics already holds a Master's degree in mathematics from Columbia University. He is associated as an economist with the Railroad Retirement Board.

Botanists Go On Foray To North Carolina

TO CLIMAX the year's activities, Prof. Robert F. Griggs has taken his advanced students of the University's Department of Botany on a botanical foray to North Carolina. Here they are exploring and collecting flora for which the locality is known. The group left Friday at 5 a.m. and will remain until this Sunday.

An extensive field trip of this kind is an annual affair with the Department. And the members, if they don't already know, learn how to rough it: the group pools together its financial resources, appoints a commissary to select and buy its menu—mostly the canned variety, builds its fireplaces in the open, and cooks all of its own food. The students even bring their own bedding—blankets and blanket-pins, and rain or (moon)shine, be it on grass or rock, with or without giant mosquitoes, they sleep under the stars.

Devis Prize Winners

MATTHEW A. PAVITT and George Strub won first and second prizes of $25 and $15 in the fifth Harry C. Davis Prize Speaking Contest, which was held in Government 102, May 24, at 8 p.m.

Achievement Awards Made to Six Alumni

SIX PROMINENT alumni of the university were named to receive annual achievement awards by the General Alumni Association of the University at a dinner of the association on Saturday, June 1. The awards will be presented at commencement exercises tonight.

Those selected by the Association's Executive Committee to receive the awards are: Miss Helen Rembert Carlow, D.D., 22, special assistant to the U. S. Attorney General for achievement in law; Miss Ida May Lind, A.B. and Bachelor of Diplomacy in Education, 24, Director of Elementary School Instruction in the District of Columbia for achievement in education.

William J. Mallory, A.M., M.D., 58, Professor of Medicine in the University School of Medicine for achievement in medicine; Dr. Edwin A. Schmitt, B.S. in 24, former president of the American Alumni Association for achievement in engineering; Charles H. 77, D.D., 72, LL.M., 73, LL.D., 77, Editor of the Evening Star, Senior University Trustee and president of the Alumni Association in 1939 for achievement in journalism; Raymond H. 25, LL.D., 26, the last American Minister to Czechoslovakia and for achievement in international relations; and William J. 1939 for achievement in Diplomacy.

Catalogues Available

THE NEW CATALOGUE is now available for general distribution. Copies may be obtained at the Registrar's Office.

Following The Socialites

By HARRIET WALLIS, Society Editor

PENN STATE: Acadians Keith Adamson, Bill Snyder, Jack Washington, Herb Lindsey and respective dates recently attended the Acacia Spring Formal there. NEW RUSHES: Walker Winter and Bill Blackney were recently elected delegates to the SAE national leadership school to be held in Evanston, Ill., Aug. 14, 15, 16.

GLEX GIRLS: The 1940 Sweetheart of SIGMA CHI will be announced at the annual Founder's Day Dinner-Dance to be held at the Kenwood Country Club June 21.

JANET LERCH: Don Rush will receive one of the Senior Awards at Class Night tonight.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN: PI PHIS recently elected outstanding seniors and initiate are Virginia Tehas and Margaret Kinman, respectively. BALFOURS: SAEs will initiate ten pledges next Sunday. The pledges gave the actives a smoker last Thursday.

WALLY SMITH: Mary Thompson was wandering around during exams the other day minus one Phi Sig pin plus one Herbie Lightfoot, but it must have been a false alarm. FATHER NEPTUNE: THETA DELTAS held a Beach Party last week-end at Colonial Beach. SAEs held their annual picnic at Wilson's cottage last Sunday.

THE HATCHET: SIGMA CHI LEON HOWELL, brother of ex-Hatchet Editor Bobby, and Dick Bahme of the University are house guests up at the chapter house. CENSUS BUREAU: During the recent enumeration an over-zealous census-taker wanted to know if anyone slept at Columbian House.

DON BUDGE: Many of the KAs have announced their intentions to play in the Evening Star tennis tournament. GOV. O'CONNOR: SIGMA CHIs and dates preceded a house party at Bud Carlson's cottage by a dance at Sam's Cafe in Annapolis.

DAN CUPID: 'Tis rumored that eight PHI SIGs contemplate matrimony in the near-to-distant future, but the only authentic news is of Bud Nelson, who performed his extra-curricular activities out in Minnesota recently on a childhood sweetheart.

PI BETA PHI: Look closely at Ann Joyce David's left hand and view the diamond plunked there by SAE Ed Wilson, now interning at the University Hospital. Ann's engagement was announced last Sunday by her father.

MUSICIAN'S PROTECTIVE UNION: PHI SIGs dined and danced last Monday evening at the Congressional Country Club in honor of their graduates. Will Hughes' orchestra officiated. SIG EPs prance, jitter and glide when they hold their annual Spring Formal at the Washington Golf and Country Club June 13. A favor dance, too.

BLACKSTONE FLORISTS: Norma Hatfield honored Tahminah Irani, whose marriage takes place next August with a surprise kitchen shower at her home on June 4. About twenty PI PHIs were present, among them Ann Joyce David, Gean Harris, Betty Bates, Betty Ann East, Carter Miller, Jeanne Viorer, Harriet Wallis, Betty Bruce, and Marianna Trowbridge.

CHARLIE HAMM: Heinz Steinbach and Ed Gee won the Ace of Spades Club bridge tournament. FREDERICK L. HASKIN: A certain fellow is worrying about Bob Rynerson's technique and Gus Johnson's lack of same. What about it? KITTY PUTNAM: Was it a misprint or not when Lee Moran's name appeared in the Cherry Tree as Lion?

SUN VALLEY: It won't be long now before the KAPPAs reach Idaho for their convention. Eleanor Sherburne and Elaine Berry are G. W.'s delegates. LAW SCHOOL: He must be healthy, the prof who munches carrots while his students slaved at their four-hour exams.

JELLEPPS: Jerry Mathews' boasts Alaska-ward after the PI PHI convention in Pasadena this month.

LOST AND FOUND DEPT: Found, one G. W. student who doesn't frequent the Student Club. His name is unspellable, but his initials are C. D. S. BABY DEPT: Since she forgot to call THE HATCHET's attention to her sister's marriage several years ago, Virginia Samueller thought it nice to announce that Jane recently had a baby.

SENIOR CLASS: KAPPA DELTA recently voted Virginia Birkby and Sally Anderson their outstanding seniors at a luncheon in their honor.

POTOMAC RIVER: TAU SIGs and dates sailed the old Potomac last Sunday in an authentic sail boat and collected not a few handsome burns.

SERVICE PARTY: New KAPPA SIGMA officials, installed last week, are: Joe Bob Gale, president; Martin Manish, vice president; Bill Waldrop, treasurer; Jim Grady, secretary; and Bill Kiehlhorn, master of ceremonies. They also initiated Bob Howard and John Field and pledged Don Leary.

CHARLES LAMON: TEKES will hold their annual Alumni Roundup on June 22 and award to the active chapter certificates of merit for scholarship, most activities, and the most representative. TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN: ZETA TAU ALPHA held their annual house party at Tall Timbers last week-end.

ELY CULBERTSON: Alton Anderson's mother is planning a series of card parties for the TEKES to take place during the Summer. THE TEKES like Mrs. Anderson so much there are now rumors of holding a special gold-plated initiation for her.

END OF THE COLUMN NOTE: Who ever heard of Summer school?

Hospital Pharmacy Control Is Shifted

ADMINISTRATION of the hospital pharmacy at the University has been transferred from the University Hospital to the School of Pharmacy.

The action was taken upon the joint recommendation of Dean William Paul Briggs, of the School of Pharmacy, and Dean Walter A. Bloedorn, of the School of Medicine.

No important administrative changes are being considered for the present.

Wage Hour

followed by three members of the Fair Labor Standards Administration, who discussed various phases of the Wage Hour Acts and enforcement.

These speakers were Blair Snyder, Acting Deputy Administrator; Burton E. Oppenheim, Chief of the Industry Committee Branch; and O. J. Liberty, Chief of the Field Review Section. George W. Taylor, of the Wharton School of Finance and Industry, U. of Penn., discussed the "Effects upon Competition of Wage Hour Standards of the Textile Industry" at this session.

The second session of the Institute convened Monday evening, with Senator Allen J. Ellender, of Louisiana, presiding. "Wage Hour Acts in the Light of Augmented Defense Program" was the general subject for this meeting. Speakers were L. Metcalf Wallings, Administrator, Public Contracts Division, Department of Labor, and Marian Hedges, economist, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

Speakers Tuesday morning included Isadore Lubin, director of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, and Mrs. William Kittle, member of the District of Columbia Minimum Wage Board.

The final session Tuesday afternoon heard Thomas W. Howard of the division of manufacture of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, and R. S. Zimmerman of the Federal Council of Personnel Administrators. There was a panel discussion of "Detail Administrative Problems in which the following participated: Chas. Hook, Jr., of the Rustless Iron & Steel Co.; D. W. Simeon, of the Glenn L. Martin Co.; W. Purnell, of Koppers, Inc.; C. A. Auerbach and J. Rufus Poole, of the Wage Hour Administration; H. Fowler, of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce; and L. Williams, of the Washington Board of Trade.

Hershey Skit Scores Hit At WAABanquet

KATHRYN HERSHEY'S claim to fame as an author was well established at the Women's Athletic Association Spring Banquet at the Brooke Farm Tea House May 22. Miss Hershey's "Never Get to Heaven" skit, which left nary a soul unscathed, was the hit of one of the most successful banquets given by the athletic women.

The presence of Dr. John Francis Latimer, who described himself as Dr. Corinne Cooper's husband, added no little to the merriment. He and his popular medico wife are both in a dilemma, brought about by the fact that Dr. Cooper was the one-singles soul whom Director of Admissions Eleanor Sherburne permitted to enter the Pearly Gates. Gabriel (Virginia Salisbury) sent all other applicants, including Dr. Latimer, to a warmer climate with large "rejection" slips.

The serious portion of the evening (in addition of course, to the food) was the presentation of awards. Ann Galtner now possesses the Outstanding Senior award, and Ethel Hoffman is in possession of the Junior-Senior award. The Fencing and Badminton cups both went to Marion Pauls, and the Golf cup to Joan Giles. Mary Ida Le Brou received the Tennis Singles cup and one of the Doubles awards, the other going to partner Virginia Stevens. Shirley Shaffer received the Intramural Plaque for Zeta Tau Alpha.

Six girls received coronas for having compiled fifteen hundred points. They were: Laura Ellis, Ann Galtner, Ethel Hoffman, Margaret McDowell, Marion Pauls and Catherine Moore.

Major letters for one thousand points went to: Mary Armstrong, Margaret Kinman, Virginia Salisbury, and Mabel Vierling.

Minor letters for five hundred points went to: Ruth Brunner, Helen Byars, Florida Franklin, Elsie Jenkins, Roselyn Pope, Eunice Sullivan, Vivian Yobst and Pauls Zirpel.

The first honorary varsity is a cross team consists of: Ruth Brunner, Ann Galtner, Joan Giles, Margaret Kinman, Catherine Moore, Marion Pauls, Lucie Peits, Roselyn Pope, Virginia Salisbury, Eunice Smithers, Vivian Yobst and Pauls Zirpel.

Senior Ball Climaxes School Year

THE LAST SOCIAL EVENT of the school year was held last Saturday night at the Willard Hotel when the Alumni Association of the University entertained the Seniors with their traditional dance.

The happy Seniors, of which there were some 300 present, danced from 10 until 1 a.m. to the music of Steve Le Sleur and his orchestra.

The scene of the prom was the grand ballroom of the hotel, very familiar to most of the graduates, since it was the University social functions during the last few years have been held there, and the decorations were, as usual, the fraternity and sorority banners.

Receiving the guests were the newly-elected president, of the Alumni Association, Dr. Robert Harmon, and his wife, and Eugene Lerner, president of the Senior Class.

The sponsors of the dance were well represented for there were some 200 former graduates present and thoroughly enjoying themselves.

Seniors were given carnations upon entering the dance floor to denote their status and thus distinguish them from the alumni.

Dean Briggs Honored

DEAN WILLIAM PAUL BRIGGS of the University School of Pharmacy has been named treasurer of the United States Pharmacopoeia Convention for the decade 1940-1950.

For the past ten years Dean Briggs served as an auxiliary member of the Sub-committee on credentials, and assisted in carrying out tests on official pharmacists. He also was a member of the committee on arrangements for the present convention.

Newman Club Plans Picnic

THE NEWMAN Club will hold a meeting on June 20, to discuss plans for summer activities and for the Silver Jubilee National Convention to be held in New York City. A picnic has been planned for June 22, and members will be advised of the place and time of the meeting and picnic by card.

Hospital Board Reelects Mrs. Marvin

MRS. CLOYD HECK MARVIN was reelected last Thursday as president of the Women's Board of the University Hospital.

Other officers for the coming year will be Mrs. G. Louis Welles; Mrs. Gilbert Grosvenor, a former president, and Mrs. Carl Dropp, vice presidents; Mrs. H. J. Russell McNitt, treasurer; Mrs. Arthur Graham, recording secretary; Mrs. W. Hayes Yeager, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Barton W. Richwine, assistant treasurer, and Mrs. W. Y. Handy, assistant corresponding secretary.

New members elected to the board Thursday, included: Mrs. Paul S. Dickens, Mrs. Francis S. Nevins, Mrs. Russell J. Fields, Mrs. Alfred Crouse, and as an associate member, Mrs. Benjamin D. Van Evert.

Class Night

Dr. R. Kelso Leads D. C. Med Exams

Recent Graduate Also Publishes Significant Article in Journal

DR. RICHARD E. KELSO, Fellow in the Pathology Department at the Medical School, and a graduate of last year's medical class, has recently published a significant article in the American Journal of Clinical Pathology dealing with a rapid biological test for the routine diagnosis of pregnancy.

Concurrent with the publication of this article another accomplishment was added to Dr. Kelso's first year as M.D. when the District of Columbia Medical Board Examiners announced that he had received the top rating of all candidates in the April board examinations.

Dr. Kelso's high average of 89 per cent in the Basic Board Medical Examinations is one of the highest ranks ever received in an examination considered among the most difficult of any in the country, and which has been responsible for up to one-third failures among the candidates.

His article entitled "A 24-Hour Test for the Diagnosis of Pregnancy" sets forth a procedure of great importance in the field of obstetrics. It is now being rapidly adopted by clinical laboratories and hospitals throughout the country because it is the most simple, accurate, and rapid pregnancy test yet devised.

Representing a modification of the popular Acheim-Zondek Test, which hitherto shared equal acceptance with the Friedman Test, it overcomes their chief disadvantages of inconvenience, delayed diagnosis, and expense. In using white immature female rats Dr. Kelso has shown an accuracy approximating 97 per cent with his procedure, and that positive results may be obtained as early as three weeks after conception, and yet fulfill all the requisites of a satisfactory test.

Orchisis Names New Managers

ANNA BEAN, Ethel Hoffman, Muriel Rafferty and Margaret Kinman were named managers of Orchisis for 1940-41 at the dance group's closing luncheon at the Smorgasbord, May 18. The positions of these girls are: publicity manager, business manager, costume manager and talent scout, respectively. Assistants are: publicity, Betty Eglott; costumes, Nancy Marmar; talent scout, Josephine Merelman.

Off-Season

Highlight of the summer session's sport world will be a baseball game between ODK and the faculty. The honorary fraternity's arrogant challenge, hurled recently at the profs, was immediately accepted. No line-ups have as yet been revealed, but what the old boys lack in speed on the bases they expect to make up in experience.

A one-woman art exhibit, probably to be displayed out-of-doors on the campus, will feature the work of talented Jessie Roudabush in the near future. Miss Roudabush is now a graduate student majoring in education.

There will be some new faces among the faculty, particularly in the college of education. Mr. H. A. Jager, Miss Helen Mackintosh and Mr. G. M. Ruch are lecturers from the U. S. Office of Education, and Miss Mildred Dean, supervisor of Latin in the District public school system, will also lecture in Education. Prof. Bernard Mayo has been added to the history staff, while Prof. H. M. Merriman of the regular session will go to the University of Cincinnati to teach history.

The usual motley array of oldsters and youngsters is expected back this session. Many school teachers will take advantage of the additions to the college of education faculty; there will be a few scholars whose idea of a vacation is to go to a different institution for the summer; perhaps a few (and we trust there are but a few) students who are repeating mistakes made in the regular session; and, of course, a number of government workers who go to school out of force of habit.

The University is offering its convenient and generous schedule of classes this summer. One can get zoology before breakfast and again after supper; many other courses will be offered at the same and more normal hours. For those lacking the supreme scholastic determination a shorter course is offered in some subjects lasting six weeks from June 24 through August 2. The grim scholars, however, will be pleased to find a wide range of selection in the nine-week term from June 17 through August 2.

Registration Monday.

For those matter-of-fact persons interested in matters of fact: The regular registration days are Monday, June 17, for all courses in the full Summer Session, and Monday, June 24, for the six-week term. The Summer Session will present 109 courses in 22 departments of instruction, given by 59 members of the resident faculty and visiting specialists.

Latest summer school help note is: a resin bag, slung around the neck to be used on perspiring fingers, enabling them to take a better grip on slippery pencils. In any case it will be hot and exams are always just around the corner.

Engineering Slants

DEAN FEIKER will be inducted into honorary membership in Sigma Tau tomorrow night at the fraternity's Farewell and Initiation Banquet in honor of ten initiates and sixteen graduates.

The banquet will be held at the Hotel 2400. A meeting is scheduled for 6 p.m., the initiation at 6:30 p.m., and the banquet at about 7:30 p.m. Two national officers of the honorary fraternity, John C. Page, national president, and William F. Roesser, councilor, will be guests at the banquet.

Those who will be initiated, along with Dean Feiker, are Ellsworth W. Bassett, August J. Dashke, Daniel H. Gagon, John C. Goff, Don Ivor Gulbranson, Roy B. Henderson, George J. Petretic, Morton Rabineau and Edgar J. Rocaati.

The graduates are Eugene R. Capozio, Bernard Chew, Max Christopher, Warren C. Crump, Joseph A. Hartman, Roy B. Henderson, Thomas H. Johnston, Ira K. Jones, Charles G. Kurz, John Lecraw, August Millard, Bert M. Randall, George H. Werner, Quentin W. Wiest, John B. Willis, and Howard Wilson.

THE NEW Engineers' Council will hold a meeting Friday at 7:30 p.m., at the Old Bavarian, on 11th St., N.W., to make a start in plans for engineering activities for 1940-41. The officers of the Council are: Carl G. Estabrook, president; Guy B. Watson, vice-president; Leon Tepper, treasurer; George Kalv, secretary; Murray Berdick, program director; and Morgan Percy, social chairman.

THETA TAU will climax the year with a farewell banquet and dance Saturday evening at the Hotel Harrington. This is an annual affair in honor of those members of Theta Tau who are graduating.
